Television Shows in Production
Updated 2009-08-25

Show Title (producer link)	Country	Synopsis	Status	Schedule
Black Gold (youtube.com/deathfromatruck)	Canada	The life of a truck driver working in the Alberta oil patch.	Ongoing, available on YouTube.	Mondays 8:00 PM ½ hour
Bleeding Ears (paxtonbachman.com)	Canada	Musical performance from emerging bands.	One episode completed.	Sundays 8:00 PM 1 hour
Democracy Now! (democracynow.org)	USA	Daily news broadcast and magazine dealing with human rights issues. Produced by the Pacifica radio network out of New York City.	Produced daily, immediately available for automated download and scheduling.	Mon-Fri 5:00 PM 1 hour
Ephemeral (François Caron)	Canada	Viewing of ephemeral films from the Internet Archives (archive.org) followed by a panel discussion of the issues presented in the films and their relevance.	Pre-production. Many candidate films already selected, some highly controversial such as "Boys Beware" and "Perversion for Profit".	Tuesdays 10:30 PM From ½ to 1½ hour
No Budget Show (danwalechuk.com)	Canada	The No Budget Show is made for absolutely no money by a ragtag group of misfits called the Television Fun Club. Follow the adventures of Dr. Meany and his fellow villians as they try to destroy the universe.	Ten half-hour episodes completed, three left to complete. Currently available on Blip.TV.	Tuesdays 10:00 PM ½ hour
Yet Another Travel Show (François Caron)	Canada	A travel show, but not necessarily like all the other travel shows on the air. Criticism is encouraged.	One episode completed.	Saturdays 7:30 PM 1½ hour

Total weekly canadian hours:	Between 1½ and 2½ hours.
Total weekly non-canadian hours:	5 hours.
CRTC minimum canadian content requirement:	15%
TCPub canadian content target:	70%
Projected weekly canadian content:	Between 23% and 33%

Note: while the television shows "Bleeding Ears" and "Yet Another Travel Show" each have one episode completed, they aren't included in the canadian content counts since they do not yet form a complete television series.